

Tri Community Economic Development Roundtable

October 13, 2022 | Kikiwak Inn

"Although Tri-Council has been established and each community is unique and has their own autonomy; we have to combine our strengths to attract new industry and lobby for governmental supports. To achieve that, there has to be communication, cooperation, understanding and mutual respect. Together we can enhance the quality of life for all citizens in our region."

- Darryl Bauer, Economic Development Officer, PBDC

"The roundtable was a great way to identify partnerships and stretch the available resources to make a strong impact on the communities we serve. It will be exciting to see what projects can be accomplished as we work together."

- Jackie Rechenmacher, Economic Development Coordinator, TPCDC

"It is inspiring to see the willingness of community organizations to sit at a common table and explore ways to work together to build the Tri-Council region."

- Becky Cianflone, Roundtable Facilitator

"I am excited to support the Economic Development work of other stakeholders in the Tri-Area, and collaborate on topics and priority projects of shared interest."

- Kelly Heape, Career Development Consultant, Province of Manitoba

"We were excited to be invited to this roundtable and it was nice to meet other organizations that have similar mandates to our own."

- Holly LaJambe, Community Engagement Coordinator, TPCRC

"North Forge has always been about innovative ideas which are often fueled by collaboration. I'm very happy to have multiple organizations working alongside towards one common goal - benefitting our Northern people."

- Jerome Conaty, Entrepreneur-In-Residence, North Forge
